Re: The Destin Track,

Dear Mr. Moore,

Six years ago Rhino Shield was contracted to coat a large steel structure, the SkyFlyer, at our local theme park called The Track. This is a high profile structure with scenic highway visibility. Prior to using Rhino Shield we experienced coating failure and rust spots.

Our location is along the Gulf of Mexico coastline, and we experience heavy salt air corrosion and wind driven rain. This climate makes protecting steel surfaces quite challenging.

We recently inspected the structure, and the coating looks excellent. After six years there is no peeling or any rust spots. Also the color looks good and doesn't appear to have faded.

The Track is very satisfied with the protection and appearance of the Rhino Shield coating and are confident we will see similar results in the future.

Regards,

Lora McAllister
